

Dr. Cindy Kaufman is a dentist and mental health advocate from Bucks County, PA. She is a graduate of Smith College and The University of Maryland Dental School and considers herself a perpetual student of life. Using her medical background, research in the fields of eating disorders and dissociative disorders and personal experience in the mental healthcare system, Cindy speaks to professionals and laymen alike on eating disorders, dissociative disorders and the need for coordinated care for clients with these co-occurring issues. Cindy has also been an honored speaker for An Infinite Mind at several of their Healing Together Conferences.
